Greentube makes skill-based play with Chopsticks in the apps

Greentube, part of NOVOMATIC Interactive, announces straight from the G2E show floor that it has signed a partnership agreement with Gibraltar-based mobile gaming company Chopsticks in the apps Ltd. (Chopsticks). Under the agreement, Chopsticks will develop a range of popular mobile games into gambling titles that will be distributed by Greentube to its online, mobile, social and land-based channels.

The two companies will work closely together to hand-pick a selection of fast-paced and easy-to-play casual and social games. Experts in gamification, Chopsticks will add world-class mathematics to create highly entertaining skill-based titles that will be made available by Greentube on all devices. The games will expand the Greentube portfolio with a broad new range of titles that target a wide demographic of player of all ages.

It marks the entry of Greentube into the skill-based gaming segment being explored by companies to attract a wider variety of players. A new take on casino games, all the excitement of interactive, casual and mobile gaming will merge with Chopsticks' sophisticated gaming mechanics to create new experiences that can be played any time and on any device.

Thomas Graf, Greentube CEO, commented: "We have a strong heritage of skill-based gaming through a long-standing history of NOVOMATIC games in AWP markets. We understand the dynamics of these skill elements very well and are taking this to the next level through this agreement with Chopsticks in the apps."

Michal Palecek, Chopsticks CEO, added: "It is hugely exciting to form this partnership with Greentube that will allow us to quickly reach new markets. We look forward to a mutual collaboration to share knowledge that will help us strength our development in this area and create the best possible skill-based games."
